

Darryl Bramlette

Age – 70

Jamestown, California

Retired

Darryl is a railroad enthusiast. He lives in Jamestown California with his wife. He has two daughters who have both graduated university and married. Darryl moved to Jamestown in 2005 when he retired from United Technology Corporation where he was a support program manager, he worked with the company since 1986. His successful career in engineering and manufacturing has led him to a very comfortable retirement. Darryl has a passion for model trains and trains in general. Since retirement he has been keeping busy by building a scale version of the Yosemite Railroad in his garden, it's a very detailed project complete with scale versions of buildings, lakes, bridges and farms. Darryl also enjoys wildlife photography and other types of engineering such as aerospace. Darryl is a frequent user of Facebook and maintains a railroad enthusiast group. He is a member of many other groups also and posts regularly on their pages. He is very sociable and loves to chat with others about his numerous hobbies and interests. Darryl is described as a caring and passionate person who lives an active life for somebody of his age. He is currently enjoying every moment of his retirement.

Darryl and his wife are planning a vacation to the town of Dolores with the intention of visiting the Cumbres and Toltec railroad and seeing the Galloping Goose no.5 train. Darryl feels that taking a ride on the train would be a highlight of the vacation and would like to coordinate the trip with any special events that might occur such as a historical celebration.

Initial Needs

History of the society

History of the train

Examples of tours and rides that are available

Photos of the train and the railroad as well as its developments

Initial Behaviors

Read about the history of the historical society

Read about the Galloping Goose and the railroad

Browse through all of the photographs

Interim Needs

Train schedules

Details of any upcoming events

Links to sites which sell the tickets

Links to hotels or other attractions as well as information about the town of Delores

Interim Behaviors

Browses the site looking for an event or tour which might fit with his vacation

Checks schedules of trains

Browse the gift shop

Final Needs

Apply for membership to the Galloping Goose Historical Society

Make a donation

Final Behaviors

Contact the historical society

Share photos and links to other rail enthusiast group

Darryl and his wife had a great vacation and riding on the Galloping Goose No.5 was one of the highlights. Darryl took loads of photos which he intends to share on facebook. He plans to become a member of the Historical Society and will likely donate in the future. He also bought several items from the museum gift shop as souvenirs for his friends